

Rejection of Bids

The Owner has a right to reject any or all bids for good and sufficient cause but this should not be done as a subterfuge to accept a bidder who did not submit a proposal until after the prices of others were made known, or to obtain an estimate of the cost of the project so as to award it by separated contracts or to a bidder definitely selected in advance.